How much would you gain from doing what you said you would do even when you don't want to do it?

What would a breakthrough in personal accountability mean to you?

Wouldn't NOW be the best time to learn how one small behavioral change can lead to a gigantic increase in your productivity?

Hold the Date! November 7, 2013

International Speaker, Trainer, Author, and Coach, Bob Davies is coming to Loyola University Maryland in just a few short weeks!

Bob has so much to show you! He will show you how to leverage one small change that will explode your personal productivity! In addition, you will learn how to be the expert AND how to communicate your value to others. This skill is immediately applicable to your business and will positively impact your bottom line.

But wait, there is more!

Bob will also be sharing an eating plan. You will learn how to have it easy and succeed without willpower, without deprivation, without dieting, and without exercise!

Biography of Bob Davies

As a college football coach, Bob Davies helped the athletes at Cal State Fullerton tap into their hidden potential and win two conference championships.

Bob also coached Olympic wrestler, Jeff Blatnick, and helped him overcome Hodgkin's disease on his way to winning the gold medal at the 1984 Summer Olympics.

Bob is the author of three books, and has also produced several audio albums and videos. He is one of the original pioneers of the e-learning environment and has developed the world's first online interactive coaching portal!

He presented at the 2013 International Franchise Association conference and received an unprecedented 100% Excellent rating by the audience!

Bob's unique experiences of overcoming poverty and various negative influences, combined with his education and professional certifications, enable him to share his timeless strategies for success both domestically and internationally. He is known as America's Performance Coach, and he is the definitive expert in the field of human potential.

Bob's presentations incorporate the latest research in biology, physics, mathematics and philosophy, and translate this information into immediate and useful applications.
